'HUNTER VALLEY'

Hunter Semillon is unique in the world of wine. The climate in the region indirectly created a style. Grapes are picked early to avoid rain at harvest. The resultant wines still have ripe fruit traits plus they're low in alcohol and high in acid. The perfect partner for oysters and more.

'I love Hunter Semillon; it's without peer.' AY

'HUNTER VALLEY'

Australia's oldest viticultural area, the first plantings appeared in the 1820s. A couple of hours north of Sydney, it's close enough for a day trip though big enough to linger for a few days or more. The region is famous for Semillon, Chardonnay, and Shiraz, though they're happy to play around with a multitude of varieties.

Our team of sommeliers have hand selected their favourite producers

BIODYNAMICS

Biodynamics is based on a series of 8 lectures from 1924 on regenerative agriculture by Dr. Rudolf Steiner.

At the time, age old methods of farming were being replaced by new, industrially produced agrochemicals. Essentially, Biodynamics is the elimination of negative practices in the vineyard and the winery, closely linked to a series of specific actions implemented according to the lunar calendar. These preparations (composts) are practical measures intended to improve the basic health and biodiversity of the soil below ground, subsequently aiding the plant above ground.

Castagna

Beechworth, in northeast Victoria has a continental climate, ideal for practicing viticulture with Biodynamic methods. Minimal rainfall during the growing season reduces disease pressure and the need to spray.

Julian and Carolann Castagna's first vines were planted in 1997. They chose Biodynamics from the beginning, burying preparation 500 over the Winter Solstice, unearthing for the Summer Solstice. The vines are pruned by hand, the fruit is hand-picked, the principal approach is minimal intervention.

Castagna's stable is a cornucopia of quality wines.

'There is no doubt the old-world wines have had a great influence in creating our benchmark. We make classic old-world wine with new-world fruit, in an area that we have no doubt will one day be recognised as one of Australia's regions of viticultural magic'

Julian Castagna

CULLEN

Established by Kevin and Diana Cullen in the nascent days of Margaret River wine region in 1971. Their daughter Vanya began as a winemaker for the family in 1983, taking the reins from her mother in 1989. She introduced organic viticulture in 1995, by 1998 the entire parcel of vines was treated in an organic manner. They moved to screw closures (screw cap) in 2003, switched up to Biodynamics in 2004 and introduced the Mangan line alongside Cullen from 2006. There are approx 30ha Cullen vineyards, planted on rocky, poor soils. The 25ha of Mangan vines grow in deep, rich earth.

The Biodynamic calendar is broken into fruit, flower, leaf, and root days according to lunar cycles. Based in Margaret River's dress circle, Wilyabrup, the grapes for Cullen and Mangan are harvested solely on flower and fruit days.

You don't need to be devout to recognise that the vineyard soil is soft and springy, alive with microflora and microfauna. The wines speak for themselves.

New school producers take a leaf from old school. Winemakers began revisiting this method a few years ago. Today, producers around the world are happy to use ceramic eggs alongside wood, stainless steel, cement and more.

Skin contact aka, orange wine, is white wine grapes vinified in a similar manner to red wine grapes. As a rule, white berries are generally more fragile than red berries, a level of care is needed.

Skin contact can turn up the volume of the varietal.

Amphora, essentially clay jars used to ferment and or age wine. An ancient tradition recognised as providing a pure expression of grape and place, rather than artifact.

Metala

Originally established in 1891, Metala, is based in Langhorne Creek, South Australia. These wines were recently released from Magill cellars, checked, and recorked by Langton's Auction House buying team.

Metala has a few claims to fame, including but not limited to being the inaugural winner of the Jimmy Watson trophy. They're the guardians to the oldest family-owned Cabernet vineyard in the world and the oldest Shiraz vines in Langhorne Creek.

South Australian red wines are commonly recognised for their oak cradled robust fruit flavours and aromas, inky, purple black core, ample tannin and usually a warm finish on the palate. There's a joy to drinking a lovely old Australian red. The primary fruit has faded away, replaced by tertiary notes, the tannins soften over time where white wines darken, red wines lose their colour.

By the very nature of the market of mature wines, we have limited availability. Once we run out, we will not be able to replace them. Please enjoy them while you can.
